

Savage Hill Cattle Co. at Matson Farm is located in the geographic heart of Connecticut. We sell free range grass-and-hay-fed beef by the side.

We utilize cross bred cattle with Black Angus, Scottish Highland, Hereford and beefalo genetics. This allows us to take advantage of the superior hybrid vigor traits of a crossbred animal which makes them more hearty, healthy, naturally productive and lean. As a result, all of our animals are kept out doors in a low stress environment year round sometimes with the exception of a young calf and mother in very inclement weather.

At Savage Hill Cattle Co. we are a small operation that values old fashion farming techniques and humane treatment of all our animals. We DO NOT use any synthetic fertilizers, pesticides or herbicides anywhere on our property, in turn this allows a diverse group of soil microbes improve nutrient cycling and deliver more trace minerals through the food chain and eventually to you. We pledge that we will never use artificial growth hormones, antibiotics or other drugs in our cattle.

All of the beef that we sell from our farm comes from cattle that have been born and raised on our farm in accordance with our strict husbandry practices. This eliminates the possibility of introducing animals from unknown whereabouts that can be sick, diseased or not raised to our standards.

Currently our beef can only be purchased by the whole side. A typical side of beef weighs approximately 300 lbs. There is a 2-3 week lead time required and a 50% deposit as animals are processed on a per order basis for maximum quality.

All of our meat is processed from start to finish in USDA inspected facilities. The current price of a side is $5.00 per lb. hanging weight; this includes custom cutting to customer specifications and vacuum sealing, however it is subject to change as prices fluctuate. Your order can be picked up at the local USDA processor in East Berlin. When you buy from us you get the best piece of beef and peace of mind.
